Children's Day.

Children's day will be observed at the Reformed Church, at Hudson's Cross Roads Sunday morning, Aug. 12th.

Serious Accident.

Mr. Jephtha Hestley was kicked by a horse last Friday. One of his legs was broken and the bone shattered. His surgeon, Dr. Hoffman, is in hopes that he may be able to save his leg, though the injury is of a very serious character.

He was riding hay at the time that he was kicked.

This is the season when cesspools, hen-houses, hog-pens, and other out-buildings will surely be offensive and unhealthy, unless specially cared for.

WITH THE FISHERMEN.

The Shenandoah river having been muddy nearly the entire season, there was no bass fishing until last week, when the water was in excellent condition and there was a regular boom in the toad and minnow market.

A number of our experienced fishermen took advantage of the opportunity and brought in large strings of bass.

Mr. Clifford Gillock got a fine string of bass, one of which weighed four pounds.

Mr. Arch Parker caught the mammoth fish of the season. It was estimated to be at least two or more pounds heavier than the Gillock fish, and as to size, it was larger than a shad. Mr. Parker landed him with consummate skill, and carefully placed him on a string which was securely fastened.

The bass, however, gave one flit when the string parted and the prize was gone. Mr. Parker was deeply effected and lost his appetite entirely. When our reporter interviewed him, he had not yet recovered it. He says that he intended that fish for the HERALD office, so we are doubly grieved over his loss.

On Saturday, Mr. Chas. Williams, of the HERALD office, undertook to try his luck, but with an apparent determination to verify one of the fishermen's old proverbs, tumbled into the river where the water was up to his arms pits.

THE SHENANDOAH VALLEY.

From a correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch.

"It is said that a noted traveler, who had visited every civilized country in the world; who had spent months in France and Italy; who had studied the landscapes of England and of Spain; who had climbed a lofty peak of the Himalayas and looked far down by Mustang and Karakoram, across the vale of Kashmir, long considered the most fertile valley in the world—it is said that this traveler finally found his way to Virginia, and climbed upon a rock on the Massanutten Mountain, and looked down into the Shenandoah Valley, where the little town of Woodstock nestled where the Shenandoah river wound like a snake among the green fields; where cattle browsed in clover; where the long white turnpike stretched from village to village and finally faded away into a white string in the distance—and said, 'There is no valley like the Shenandoah!'"

Two years ago President McKinley passed down the Valley in a special train, and topped for a brief interval at one of the little towns, and spoke to the people from the rear platform of the train. Said he: "I wish, above all things, to congratulate you, my friends, upon living in this charming country—the most fertile, the most beautiful valley in America."

HOME FROM THE WAR.

Last week we had only time to announce the return of Mr. Herbert Kneisley. About 21 years ago he left New York, going by way of Gibraltar, the Mediterranean sea, Alexandria, the Suez Canal, Red sea, Indian Ocean, &c., to Manila. He there served in the Medical Department of the 47th regiment, but being out to see all that was to be seen, he frequently served with the soldiers on the firing line. Mr. Kneisley is an intelligent conversationalist and his description of Philippine habits and customs is interesting.

He left Manila on the 25th of May, and returned via Japan, San Francisco and New York, thus encircling the globe. It was a big undertaking for one of his size, but he performed his duty manfully as the certificates which he has fully attest.

REUNION AT FISHER'S HILL.

The reunion at Fisher's Hill promises to be one of the largest ever held there. The band of veterans is each year becoming smaller. Some who were among the liveliest there last year, have gone to join their comrades who are camping just beyond the river, but the crowd in attendance will not be lessened. Each year, new visitors come to listen to the story of the struggles of the gallant men who fought for constitutional liberty. That they will be highly entertained this year, no one doubts. Fitz Lee and the brave and gallant Payne will be there to entertain them.

ORANDA NOTES.

It is getting pretty dry here—farmers that were wishing for one week ago for some rain are now wishing for rain.

Rev. W. L. Dudley held a few days meeting recently at Laurel Hill, with two additions—he is now at Augusta Church, W. Va., in a meeting.

J. R. Browning lost his best horse recently and now has two more sick.

The Hottel Bros. threshing machine is in operation in this community.

Mrs. Eliza Stuckey is very much complaining at her home on the pike.

Miss Angeline Marshall of Bridge-water, Va., is visiting Misses Lucy and Cora Hottel.

Mrs. Blanch Math-w is visiting relatives in Warren county.

Some of our people report hick-berries scarce on the first mountain.

Miss Valley Brooks, of Woodstock is the guest of Misses Bettie and Gerie Keller on Cedar Creek (Elen-vale farm).

OBITUARY.

DAVID D. HOSHOUR.

David Dingo Hoshour for many years a well known resident of this place, died at his home in Front Royal, Thursday evening, aged 79 years, 2 months and 12 days.

He was born in Woodstock. When a boy he went to New Market and learned the brick making business with Mr. Lyons of that place.

He commenced business for himself at Mt. Sidney. He afterwards carried on the business in Staunton, Woodstock, Iowa and Front Royal. During the war he served with the 18th Virginia Cavalry and was a gallant soldier.

He first married Miss Rebecca J. Cline of this place. He had seven children. Mr. Jno. S. Hoshour, our energetic brick mason, Mrs. Emma Ehard and Mrs. Anna Saffel, of Front Royal, and Mrs. Connela S. Grubbs, of River-ton, survive him.

About 20 years ago he married Miss Ellen Hurn, of Strasburg, with whom he lived until his death, at Front Royal.

A number of grand children mourn the loss that they with the other members of his family have sustained.

He was an energetic, progressive citizen, always interested in every enterprise which would contribute to the prosperity of the community. Even when delicate health and loss of eyesight seemed to be insurmountable obstacles, he engaged in profitable businesses.

He was gentle and kind, an agreeable companion and fondly attached to the people of his native town. His brother, Mr. Peter E. Hoshour, now in his 82d year, is still a resident of this place, and appears to be in the full enjoyment of his usual health.

Mr. David Hoshour, a few years ago, united with the Lutheran Church, and died placing implicit confidence in the religion which he professed and the Savior through whose merits he felt assured of the enjoyment of a higher and better life.

Mrs. LOUISE POLLOCK.

Mrs. Louise Pollock, of Washington, D. C
